

WWEA Membership Terms & Conditions

World Wind Energy Association

Membership Evaluation and Approval

Associations, companies, scientific organisations, public bodies and individuals can apply for WWEA membership.

Organisations/individuals who apply for membership undergo an evaluation process that takes between several days and several weeks.

To become a member, you should accept the WWEA working principles as basis for WWEA's work.

To become an ordinary member, you should be an association.

To become a member, you should send a membership application through our website or submit the application form to the WWEA Head Office.

Your application will be evaluated and approved by the WWEA Board.

Membership Fees are due annually and are determined by the Board based on the applicant's annual turnover.

Ordinary members pay:

- 1% of their annual turnover.
- Minimum fee is 100 EUR; maximum 15'000 EUR

Corporate members pay:

- 0,1% of their wind related annual turnover
- OECD based companies pay a minimum fee 1000 EUR.
- Non-OECD pay a minimum fee of 100 EUR.
- Small wind companies with an annual turnover up to 100.000 EURO pay 150 EURO; up to 500.000 EURO: 300 EURO; up to 1 mio EURO: 500 EURO, more than 1 mio EURO: 1000 EURO respectively 0,1 % of their annual turnover.

Scientific members pay:

- OECD based bodies pay as minimum 500 EUR.
- Non-OECD bodies pay 100 EUR.

Individual members are evaluated and approved by the Secretary General and pay a determined fee of 100/50 EUR (regular/student fee).

Approved members are informed by email and their membership becomes active.

Membership application is binding. Applicants can withdraw their application before the approval email has been sent. Once WWEA approves an application, the first membership fee must be paid.

Active membership

Once the membership application has been approved and the member has been informed, the admitted organisation can join the WWEA activities and also benefit from its advantages. WWEA members will receive regular information about wind power around the world and they can access the members information section on the WWEA website – where all institutional members can also have a public profile.

Termination of membership

Membership is renewed automatically. Members can terminate their membership by informing WWEA in written notice 6 months before the end of the calendar year.

Approved memberships can be terminated by WWEA in cases of:

- Non-compliance with the WWEA principles
- Misuse of WWEA's logo, name, and image
- Non-payment of membership fee
- Other issues determined by the WWEA Board.
